Office of Inspector General

September 18, 2014

In August 2014, the Inspector General sent a letter requesting information to the thirty companies which have the highest dollar amount of contracts with the Department of State. This request was sent after several media reports were written about the use of confidentiality agreements that limit the ability of contractor employees to report fraud, waste, or abuse to Inspectors General or other oversight entities. The Inspector General requested a response by September 5 and is currently reviewing the responses. After this review is complete, an analysis of the information provided will be published.

The letter was sent to the following companies:
